states that a jury was secured in the Callison case.

is so low that only part of the electric lights in town can be lit.

Social at Armory Hall this evening.

Agricultural Works burned yesterday in San Francisco. Loss $60,- 000.
—The machinery of the Meteor broke down on Sunday while a party was being carried around the Lake.
—C. H. E. Hardin, of Mason Valley, is reported to have won $30,000 in the late drawing of the Louisiana lottery. He had a coupon in the ticket that drew the capital prize of $300,000.

—Now that Gen. Harrison has determined to go fishing, there will be a chance to really compare the rival candidates for the Presidency, provided a truthful account of each account of the catch can be obtained.
—The best medical authorities acknowledge the value of Ayer's Pills, and prescribe them with the utmost confidence, as the most ef-by derangements of the stomach, —If every man in Ormsby and Lyon should do his best to add to the merit of the coming Fair in this city, what a splendid showing would be made? There will be strangers among us taking notes of the display, and everybody should help to make it creditable.

—The Democratic papers are emphatically denying that the London Times said "the only time England has any use for an Irishman is when he emigrates to America and votes for free trade." The APPEAL has never seen a denial from the Times, and everybody knows the sentiment quoted is just what the Times thinks.

—The London Echo joins the Democratic party in trying to kick Sam Randall out of the party because of his obstruction to free trade, and of his defeat in the passage of the Mills bill says: "This is good news for England, for it means an increased wool, iron and steel trade. More than that, it is the beginning of an enlightened policy which will be of great value to both nations."

—After the defeat of the Democratic ticket in November, the New York Sun will be in a position to say: "I told you so." It continues to give a nominal support to the Democratic ticket, while at the same time attacking the free trade drift of the Cleveland Administration and the Democratic platform.
There is no stronger protectionist paper in the country than the Sun.
Dana was a Whig before he became a Democrat.

THE ARTESIAN QUESTION.

A Good Flow Struck Near Genoa.
Ever since John Rosser struck a good flow of water at his ranch in Carson Valley, the "Artesian Fever" has been spreading.
Last Saturday George Hawkins, in boring a well for Hank Martin on his property near Genoa, struck a fine flow at 310 feet below the surface.
There was not a sign of water at 300, and things looked quite discouraging, but Martin ordered the boring to go on as deep as the tools would drive it, and by going ten feet more the flow was struck.
It runs 20 gallons of pure water per minute, and when a well will run so well in a dry season it will do much better in a few weeks.
Mr. Martin would not take a large sum of money for his well.
The water tapped by artesian boring in this State is not very cold, which makes it especially desirable for cattle in winter, as beef cattle will do much better in Winter on such water which comes steaming from the ground, than ice water drank from surface streams.
The people of Douglas county have sent East for a machine to go 2,000 feet deep, and there is no question that they will strike a very much heavier flow than has yet been reached in this State.
The instant a big flow is obtained at great depth, sagebrush land will jump in value all over the sections of the country which are thought to be enclosed in the "Artesian Belt." Artesian wells have turned deserts into Edenic gardens in California, and will in the end transform this State into smiling fields of grass and grain.
The machinery for the Douglas county deep well is now on its way from the East, and the result of the boring will be watched with interest by the people all over the State.

Again in Danger.

We learn that Charley Boskowitz was again in great danger of losing his life in White Pine County. It appears that he was in the neighborhood of Shekel's station when the flood overtook him in the flat. The water was four feet deep and took Bosko up to his chin. It was impossible for him to wade, being very corpulent, his feet shot out from under him and he floated like a cork until assistance reached him.
It will be remembered that he had a narrow escape from freezing to death the last time he was out that way.

The Rebel Constitution Revived.

The Constitution of the Confederate States contained this provision:
"Nor shall any duties or taxes on importations from foreign nations be laid to promote or foster any branch of industry." That Constitution which the Union soldiers abolished by war, the South and the Democratic party are seeking to restore by an act of Congress. The Mills bill is the Rebel Constitution revived.

—The streets of Oakland are in such a condition that the city editor of the Times heads an article on the subject as follows: CLOACINA.

THE GODDESS OF THE SEWERS, AR-RAYED IN A GARMENT OF GREEN SCUM WITH LACED
RUSSET ROT.

Rises Like an Unclean Venus From the Seething Filth of Stagnant Cesspools Breathing the Odor of Foul Decay.

THE HORSE AUCTION.

The Circus Animals Sell for Low Figures.
Yesterday at 2 o'clock there was quite a crowd at the auction of circus horses and a good deal of sport was had at Folcom's hay yard.
When Folsom brought out the two donkeys, the crowd began to sing, "Three little maids from school."
The Sheriff however sold everything without reserve. Cohn purchased the pair of big horses for $127.
Peanuts, the trick pony, was bid by Conway for Forepaugh $49.
The donkeys went to the same hands for $36.
The pinto horse went to Tom Lynch for $11.
The mare and colt went to Dan Clark for $16.
J. M. Benton bought Lucy for $20 50.
A. M. McCabe took the hurdle jumping mare for $35.
The donkeys and trick horse were shipped to Reno and were in the ring last night.
Forepaugh's agent told McCabe that his boy could never ride the pony and added, "when you get sick of it, send it to Reno and we will give you what you paid for it."
The Longest Day.
Old miners stoutly maintain that on the longest day in the year the air in long tunnels and deep shafts stagnates. They say that their candles can hardly be made to burn, and that they find it difficult to breathe. The air appears to be dead or deficient in oxygen. They declare that this is no superstitious notion, but a curious phenomenon that has been observed by all old miners, and say that it is no new thing, as miners have known of it for hundreds of years. They assert that on that one day the earth and the atmosphere are in about the same situation as the crank of an engine that has stuck on its center.

"All Quiet at Indianapolis."

In the intervals between the raids of the brigades of hand-shaking patriots at the residence of General Harrison, the press agent near there thinks it advisable to issue bulletins to this effect: "A quiet day at Indianapolis"—just as during the war we used to get the occasional army bulletin: "All quiet along the Pa-tomac." It also happened occasionally at that time that bad news alternated with the "all quiet" bulletins. It would be better if these invasions of visiting statesmen into General Harrison's home should be so far intermitted that there would be no necessity for making special proclamation of the "quiet day," and he may then have better chance to escape being "killed by kindness," as his grandfather was.
